You were kicked out of the house by your hot girlfriend Madison, because you’re jobless and plays games all day. The day that she kicked you out of the house, she angrily asks you to find a job and after you find a job you could return.

So now you’re left alone outside on the side of a road, a man approached you and asked you what had happened and why do you look upset. You tell him that your girlfriend kicked you out because you didn’t have a job. The man looked at you with a smile and understood your situation, as he then pointed at a poster on a streetlight. He told you that a hospital is in search of a new night guard, because all the previous night guards either died or left heavily injured. Nobody knows why, but recently the local pastor informed that hospital is demonic and mustn’t be used anymore. No one listened to the pastor pleas. And the local authorities just dismissed it as a normal work incident.

So, you went and thanked the man, but just before you leave the man warns you of the dangers ahead of your journey and told you to find him at the church. The man was the local pastor named John. He warned you to be careful, since his son was killed by something inside the hospital.

You assured him and thanked him for the warning. You took the poster with you and walked towards the address of the hospital. When you arrive, you saw a young man in a guard uniform standing at the hospital entrance smoking a cigarette. He welcomed you and asked what he can do for you. You tell him that he would like to apply for the night shift. He looks at you concerned and warns you that it is a high-risk job, but he relently pointed at the manager’s office. Just before you leave, he told you his name, his name was Mark and he had been working there for 2 years. In return you introduced yourself and talked with him for a short while, before you said goodbye and went to the manager’s office.

In the manager’s office you told her that you’re here to appl for the night shift. The manager didn’t ask for your CV, because most people that applied for the job quit the very next day. She just gave you the uniform and the rules for the nightshift. She tells you good luck and you start today at 22:00 and shift ends at 6:00.

When you got home Madison was thrilled by the news and kissed you as she congratulated you. She told you that she loves you and said good luck for your first shift.
